

July 2025

My dear Students, Parents & Well-wishers,

Each of us is born with a unique talent waiting to be discovered. Don't wait for the perfect moment—create it by stepping forward and trying new things. Participate actively in all school activities; every experience is a chance to grow, shine and uncover the brilliance within you. Remember, talent blossoms with courage and effort.

Extracurricular activities are not just add-ons to academics—they are the heartbeat of a vibrant school life. Whether it's sports, music, art, debate or drama, each activity shapes personality, builds confidence and nurtures hidden talents. By participating wholeheartedly, you develop teamwork, leadership, creativity and resilience—skills that go beyond books and prepare you for life.

Co-curricular activities are an essential part of holistic education. They bridge the gap between theory and practice, helping students apply classroom learning in real-life situations. Be it quiz clubs, science projects, literary competitions, subject clubs, MUN or leadership roles—each activity enhances critical thinking, communication and collaboration. These experiences shape balanced individuals, ready to lead with both knowledge and character.

Talent is the spark within; culture is the rhythm around us. When individual brilliance aligns with rich cultural roots, it creates a harmony that inspires, uplifts and unites communities. Let us nurture every talent and honour every tradition—for in their union, we find true expression and lasting legacy.

Wishing you every success and happiness in all your endeavours!

On July 19th, 2025, an enriching workshop – off-line and online – on ‘Effective Communicative Skills & Phonics’ for the teachers handling English language for Grades 1 to 5. The session focused on enhancing spoken English through activities related to stress patterns, rhythm, accent and intonation – the key elements of effective communication.

The session began with a lively introduction to word endings such as ‘-tion’, helping participants understand syllable stress and tone variation. Emphasis was laid on three core components of spoken English: Rhythm, Accent, Intonation

The participants explored rhythmic representation using ‘tum’ for accented syllables and ‘ti’ for unaccented ones. Parts of speech such as nouns, verbs, adjectives and adverbs were classified into these rhythmic categories to better understand stress placement.

The following rhythmic patterns were practiced:

Ti 'tum ti 'tum / Ti 'tum ti ti 'tum / Ti 'tum ti ti 'tum ti / 'Tum ti ti ti 'tum ti / Ti 'tum ti ti ti ti 'tum / 'Tum ti /
Ti 'tum ti ti 'tum ti ti 'tum ti ti ti / 'Tum ti ti / 'Tum ti ti tum ti ti tum ti ti / 'Ti tum ti tum ti tum

These patterns helped participants grasp the practical application of stress and rhythm in improving pronunciation.

The teachers were engaged in repetition drills using words ending with ‘-tion’ and ‘-ty’. Special attention was given to syllabic word classification (e.g., 4 – 1 and 5 – 2 syllables treated as 3 syllabic words). A collaborative group task challenged teachers to frame various questions for the answer ‘name’, encouraging creativity and language usage.

The workshop significantly enhanced the participants’ understanding of phonics and effective communication. The interactive approach and practical techniques provided valuable insights for improving classroom instruction in spoken English for Grades 1 to 5.
